

第2回英語俳句コンテスト

佳作

中田 巳龍 殿

When swallows come
Rain falls
Heralding summer

<Botsford 先生による講評>

The sequence in this haiku is captivating, as Nature follows its own rhythm and order—first the appearance of the swallows, which then leads to the rain, which in turn leads to summer. The use of the verb ‘herald’ is a deft stroke.